

INTEGRATING ENGLISH USAGE (ENG)

ENG-197 Independent Study (2 credits)

Under the approval and direction of a faculty member, independent study is available to students.

ENG-697 Independent Study (3 credits)

Advanced English Composition offers second-language students in graduate programs the opportunity to focus on the English language skills required for advanced academic writing. Students gain facility with the complexity of graduate level writing by working independently and collaboratively on: format, organization, sentence structure, discipline-based vocabulary, and grammatical accuracy. Weekly assignments include grammatical exercises, compositions based on the course text, and revisions of compositions written for students' graduate courses.
